Sgt. Jones Still Working On Planes

1ST BASE AIR DEPOT, WASHINGTON, England—V-E day found S Sgt. Eugene V. Jones of Sacramento, Cal., on the job, helping to ready more combat planes and equipment for immediate action wherever they might be needed.

S Sgt. Jones, son of Mrs. S. E. Jones, Payette, is one of the crack air service command team who pitched in to back the air assaults that helped knock Germany out of the war.

Commending their battle-backing efforts, Brigadier General Morris Berman, commanding general of the base air depot area, air service command declared: "These soldiers of the base air depot have, since their work began, dispatched 45,000 tons of air corps supplies, assembled and modified 12,000 combat planes, and repaired, or overhauled more than 90,000 aircraft engines.

"Every soldier, whatever his job contributed materially to the magnificent, final result. I commend them, and I know that whatever their next task, they will fulfill it with credit to themselves and their country."

S Sgt. Jones has been overseas since July, 1943 and joined the army in June, 1943. He was employed by the Sacramento Air Depot, Sacramento, Cal.

part in the battles of Normandy, Northern France, the Ardennes (the bulge), and Germany. For gallantry in action he was awarded the Silver Star with an oak leaf cluster and a Bronze star with oak leaf cluster. He also wears the Purple Heart for a shrapnel wound he received in action. His division was on the front lines at the time of the Belgian bulge, engaged in some of the heaviest fighting and barely missed being captured.

Col. Norris is a professional soldier having graduated from West Point with the class of 1939. As a second lieutenant he was assigned to the 38th Infantry Second Division and has been with that outfit all thru the war, rising from second lieutenant to his present high rank of Lt. Colonel and commander of a battalion of over 800 men.

His message to parents, relatives and friends of service men is that no army in the world is better fed and clothed than the U. S. forces and no officers of other countries watch out for their men more than the U. S. leaders. He said he saw on three different occasions German officers sending men into areas where there was no hope of their survival and they were all wiped out. If an American officer did that, he said, he would be immediately removed from command. We taught he said in working out military problems to always take into consideration the saving of the men over material.

From his experience in handling troops, and seeing how much better chances the well trained men have over those who have had only meagre training, he has become thoroughly sold on the proposal for compulsory military training for all youth in the post-war period. He said it would not only give the

Sgt. Leedy Wins Award Coveted Navy And Marine Corps Medal

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC

(Delayed) — Forrisky almost certain death to save two other Marines from drowning, Platoon Sergeant Harry K. Leedy of Payette Heights, Idaho, has been awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Medal.

The daring rescue took place last February off Waimea Bay, Oahu, Hawaiian Islands. Leedy and a company of Leather necks, were swimming in the bay when the men were caught in a fierce undertow and swept out to sea. Two of the Marines drowned. Four others were in serious straits.

Though Leedy knew he was risking almost certain death, he plunged into the surf and reached two of his drowning comrades. He kept the struggling men above water until a life line was brought to their rescue.

The 21-year-old Marine was recently selected for officers candidates school and has returned to the United States for training.

Leedy was graduated from Caldwell high school in 1941 and was attending the University of Idaho when he enlisted in May, 1942. He has been overseas since June, 1944, serving with a military police company.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Leedy, wife, Frances and small son, Keith, all live on Payette Heights.

On his way to officers training Sgt. Leedy spent a furlough here.
