From England by Air to Meet Japs

MANY MORE THAN 10,000 TOMMIES A MONTH will soon be reaching India by air from the battlefields of Europe, where for nearly six years they have been fighting the Germans. This picture shows 22 British soldiers entering the R.A.F. Dakota transport plane which will fly them in seven days from England to India. They will be given two 48-hour rest periods on the way to get used to the changes of climate. Bigger R.A.F. planes will soon join this ferry service and, when the system is working fully, they will be landing the Tommies in India every ten minutes to join in defeating the Jana. to join in defeating the Japs.
