Payette Residents Receive Benefits

Monthly insurance payments to 1,040 widows and children of deceased wage earners, a number close to retired workers, under the Federal Old Age and Survivors program, according to figures released today by J. F. Mellinger, manager of the Social Security Board's Boise office.

"In May there were 2,430 persons in Idaho entitled to monthly old age or survivors insurance payments," Mellinger said. "Of these 41 persons live in Payette county."

"Out of the total 1,145 beneficiaries were widows or children. Workers past age 65 entitled to monthly payments totalled 1,018, and 246 wives also were entitled to monthly payments."

"In some cases payment is suspended because the beneficiary is employed, but payment is available immediately when the beneficiary quits work," Mellinger pointed out.

"Idaho's share in this program is relatively small since thousands of Idaho farmers and farm workers are now excluded from its provisions," Mellinger said. "However the Social Security Board in its annual report has recommended inclusion of these groups along with others now excluded so put them on a par with their industrial and commercial workers. All are now the principal beneficiaries of the Social Security system."
