Idaho

Here's a toast to beautiful Payette Lakes, truly a "Gem of the Mountains" . . . a toast that's in best "Taste" with Idaho's own Beer of Good Taste, the perfect companion on your Idaho vacation trip!

Reprints of this advertisement sent free upon request to Bohemian Breweries, Boise, Idaho

Now at their peak season of the year, placid Payette Lakes, southwestern Idaho's symbol of Summer siestas, are also a year 'round recreation center for hundreds of families throughout this area. Situated 110 miles north of Boise, beautiful Payette Lakes lie at an elevation of 5,000 feet, protected by a mountain horseshoe of scenic, snow-capped granite grandeur which harbors myriad small lakes and miles of mountain trout streams. Fishing, swimming, boating, hiking and riding are now at their best. Later, colorful Autumn will beckon the big game hunter. Then Winter's quiet, heavy snowfalls will create unsurpassed skiing conditions throughout the long cold-weather season.

No. 2 of a series featuring Idaho's great outdoors and unmatched recreational resources. Spend wartime holidays and vacations at home. Invite your out-of-state friends to spend after-war vacations in Idaho.
