

T-4 Barnett Gets Discharge

PT. DOUGLAS, Utah—Discharged from the army under the adjusted service rating plan, at the Fort Douglas separation center T-4 Harry W. Barnett whose mother, Mrs. M. L. Barnett lives at 518 North 9th street, Payette, is wearing bronze stars for five campaigns pursuant to operations in North Africa, Naples, Foggia, Rome-Arno, Appenines and Po valley.

Incidental to his 38 months service overseas, he is authorized to wear the European Theatre of Operations ribbon, battalion citation, American Defense ribbon and Good Conduct Medal.

Before entering the army in February, 1941, T-4 Barnett was employed as hotel cook for the Motel Inn of Bakersfield, Cal.

Barnett and the thousands of other discharges that pass through the Fort Douglas separation center for processing in the course of demobilization, constitute the Personnel Center's super-project. Processing for the average separatee is counseled by a staff of well qualified military counselors. All questions are answered in reference to National Service Life Insurance, how to secure a new job, rights and privileges under the G. I. Bill of Rights, mustering out pay, hospitalization, claim for a pension, and other topics of concern. Purpose of counseling as well as orientation talks and film strips is to bring about a more ready readjustment to a successful civilian life.

In the course of the processing, each separatee is given a complete uniform, as well as his discharge emblem. The honorable discharge is then presented by the commanding officer of the separation center or his representative. The officer making the presentation expresses the War Department's commendation for honorable service and the Army's good wishes to a parting comrade.

Major Pence With Airborne Division

The picture of part of the 11th airborne division landing on Luzon in last week's Independent-Enterprise was of particular interest to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Pence as their son Major A. L. Pence is a member of that unit.

They had just received a letter from him, the first in several months and he said that he was serving as executive officer of the second battalion, 11th airborne.

Major Pence recently landed in the Philippines, and previously had served both in the European and South Pacific theaters. He has been wounded twice, but despite this fact, he has been able to get back into the strenuous duty required of airborne troops.

Telephones
Still Go To WAR!

● In Europe, telephones played a mighty important part in the defeat of Germany.

Now, in the Pacific, telephones help unite our far flung forces of ships and planes, and provide a vital web of communications for the fighters-on-foot.

We look forward to the day when we will be able to serve everyone again, but the demands of war must come first.

What would happen?

Darkness would lay its inky finger on your home. Food would spoil. A flick of a switch wouldn't toast your bread, or cool your living room, or perk your coffee. You'd have to sweep by broom, and wash by hand, and wear unironed clothes.

Your house would be a little isolated world of its own, with no telephone, no radio, no newspapers to link you with humanity. Time would stop with the frozen hands of your electric clock. Transportation would be paralyzed.

You'd have no job, since almost all industry—from the cash register to the welder's arc—draws its vitality from the little blue spark of electricity. War production would stop in its tracks.

But electricity never takes a vacation: 60 seconds to the minute, 60 minutes to the hour, day and night, summer and winter, electric service stands eagerly awaiting the flick of a switch.

And this dependability is no accident. It is the result of hard work and careful planning by folks who know their business—your friends and neighbors in this company.
